

Share Content Knowledge With Your Students

Fine Arts, CTE, Foreign Language, Health/PE, JROTC

2016 February Institute

Share Content Knowledge With Your Students

Bradley Sasser, UNC Region, bcsasser@northcarolina.edu

Tierney Fairchild, WCU Region, tpfairchild@wcu.edu

Felita Gilliam, ECU Region, gilliamf14@ecu.edu

Kitty Mann, NCSU Region, ktmann2@ncsu.edu

Mid-Year Reflection

How productive has your classroom instruction been thus far this year?

Building Toward the End

Locate your content standards online.

Using the lesson plan template of your choice, create a lesson plan that addresses your end of the year product. Keep the following in mind:

- Think with the end in mind.
- Make sure the verb of the objective matches the activity. (Ex: Create, analyze, evaluate., etc)
- Assessment tools
- Marzano's strategies and Bloom's taxonomy.

The End of Year Product

What is your big end of year product?

- Concert?
- Art Show?
- Project?
- Production?

Share

Gallery Walk

Did you use these and how?

Bloom's

Marzano's

Assessment tools

Commitment

To close this meeting, we are going to reflect honestly on what we learned, what we felt, and what we will do when we leave this meeting.

- Head – What did I learn?
- Heart – How did I feel about this lesson planning process ?
- Feet – How will I act on this?

Online Resources

<https://s-media-cache-ak0.pinimg.com/236x/d5/a8/d0/d5a8d03b85aa832bec9dbe05d805f221.jpg> (Marzano)

http://ww2.odu.edu/educ/roverbau/Bloom/fx_Bloom_New.jpg (Bloom)

http://www.informationliteracy.org/users_data/1711/Tools.jpg (Assessment tools)

<http://www.ncpublicschools.org/curriculum/> (Essential Standards NC DPI)